CU Denver | Anschutz Medical Campus

October 7, 12 noon
Bushnell Auditorium, 8th Floor Building 500

Scientific breakthroughs are helping us to better understand how our mind perceives others, and how our perceptions can elicit unconscious biases about members of other groups. These biases can lead to unintended negative impacts on our efforts to respect and value diversity. This presentation will discuss forms of unconscious bias and how to recognize and overcome them in order to foster an inclusive campus.

A light lunch will be served. Please register at:
