THE FUTURE OF BUSINESS EDUCATION IS HERE

Full AACSB global accreditation places the CU Denver Business School in the top five percent worldwide – one of many reasons more students choose our graduate programs than any other in the Rocky Mountain West. Our students learn from faculty who are leaders in their field and respected for their research. The programs are designed for working professionals with flexible class schedules and many ways to customize the degree to fit your individual career goals.

NETWORKING AND CAREER SUPPORT

The Business Career Connections (BCC) office provides students and alumni with in-person and online tools to help achieve individual career goals. BCC hosts exclusive networking and educational events that connect students to business leaders in the Rocky Mountain Region.

CONNECTED TO BUSINESS AND DENVER

Over 300 businesses have partnered with the Business School to donate money for scholarships, participate on boards and advisory councils, and provide internships and jobs for our students. Over $12.1 million in donations from businesses and individuals have helped create specialized programs including: Global Energy Management, Risk Management and Insurance, the J.P. PROGRAM AND ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

From the time you first submit your application to the date you learn about the admission decision, you are guided by professionals with years of higher education experience.

Our graduate programs provide a rigorous learning environment for students who are serious about furthering their business education and careers.

Note: If you are applying for the 11-Month MBA, Executive MBA, the Executive MBA in Health Administration, or the Global Energy Management (GEM) Program, please refer to the website for specific application requirements.

PREVIOUS EDUCATION

We review your complete academic record, including GPA and previous coursework. We accept a variety of undergraduate degrees, but they must be from a regionally accredited institution.

TESTING

The Graduate Management Admissions Test (GMAT) is required for admission. The Business School uses the test as one predictor of academic performance. The average GMAT score of admitted students is 580.

If you wish to waive the GMAT based on a previous graduate degree, the admissions committee will examine your graduate transcripts to determine if you have the necessary verbal and quantitative baseline for admission.

Some graduate programs also consider the GRE test. If you wish to be considered with your previous GRE score, indicate that when you submit your application. The admissions team will let you know if your GRE scores have been accepted, or if you need to take the GMAT.

WORK EXPERIENCE

A relevant background and a history of increasing responsibility are viewed positively, but not required for admission.

APPLICATION REQUIREMENTS

Submit complete application materials with a non-refundable application fee. Applications are available on our website at business.ucdenver.edu/admissions.

GENERAL BUSINESS SCHOOL REQUIREMENTS

To be eligible for graduation, students must have a cumulative GPA of 3.0 or higher and complete all degree requirements within the times allocated: five years for MBA and MS degrees and seven years for dual degrees.
